1. The Rumanian 3rd Fighter Regiment, equipped with twin-engine aircraft, was transferred to the Galati (SZ 25) airfield. The regiment came from Brasov and was equipped with six Jar-20s, three Nardys, two Zlins and one or two Fieseler Storchs. *

Comment. First information that the regiment was transferred from Brasov to Galati. It is possible that, in connection with the reorganization of the Rumanian Air Force into two air divisions, a twin-engine fighter regiment was formed from components of the former 3rd Mixed Squadron. The tactical organization of the Rumanian Air Force is not yet clear.
